Cincinnati's FOTOFOCUS

September 25, 2012

I am excited by this year's inaugural biennial FOTOFOCUS event celebrating lens-based art at over seventy venues across Cincinnati and beyond. Throughout the month of October, it will be possible to discover and enjoy the gamut of possibilities that photography offers, from historic exhibitions examining the medium's rich past to contemporary installations featuring some of the titans in this field, as well as documentary-based images and the latest in fine art photography, including landscapes, nudes, fashion, video and more. FOTOFOCUS offers unlimited opportunities to learn about photography and to be engaged with the most accessible and ever-present medium of our time. I am proud that with the Cincinnati Art Museum and the FOTOFOCUS team I was able to meaningfully contribute to this landmark event.
