

A celebration of photography/lens-based art

Tyler Shields brings 'Controlled Chaos'

FOTOFOCUS turned the focus on lens-based art, letting Cincinnati feast on photography for a solid month through dozens of events and exhibits all over town. Among the flashiest: photographer Tyler Shields, who brought his "Controlled Chaos" exhibit to Miller Gallery in Hyde Park. Known for his work with celebrities and his own provocative and imaginative work, Shields was at the gallery for the opening reception in early October, posing for snapshots with visitors.

▲ Bawe Shinholster and Tyler Shields

▲ Adhrucia Apana and Tyler Shields

▲ Becca Gleason, Gary Gleason, Tyler Shields and

▲ Tara Ferdelman and Tyler Shields

◀ Firefighters from

Tatiana Berman, Amy Kirchen, Tyler Shields, Adhrucia Apana and Tracey Lynn Conrad ▼

The Cincinnati Art Museum's Dr. James Crump with Tyler Shields ▼

